Dear Emma

I am writing to thank you and your team for putting on a spectacular Alderney Week for the island and its visitors last week.

The challenge of trying to bring a fresh approach to the island's favourite summer festival was certainly considerable following on from the proven format run so successfully by the previous team, but I have heard nothing but praise from everyone I have spoken to. It seems that the new events along with the old favourites provided the perfect balance and you are all to be congratulated for achieving this.

I would therefore like to take this opportunity to thank you, your team and everyone who volunteered and helped in any way they could. Please pass on my thanks to them all.

Yours sincerely
